Materials and colors: live as you please

We all have our own idea of comfort and harmony – traditional or modern, “zen” or exhilarating – our own way life and work.

Style trends now focus on materials and color effects, playing on transparency, reflections and light to fashion spaces with fluidity, making them more open and welcoming and yet more private, combining looks, comfort and performance. A meeting point between indoors and outdoors, the window and its dressing play a vital part in this aspect:

blinds, which tame the natural light and preserve privacy without shutting out the view are an integral part of this stylistic choice.

Natural or tangy, metallic or soothing...

Modulight® Collection 2003 by Mermet is designed to offer a maximum choice of colors and effects of materials to match major current “deco” trends.

natural: just natural comfort

To be more in symbiosis with your environment, more aware of nature, optimize comfort by using "living and breathing" materials like wood, earthenware, natural flagstone, reeds... Now that the "bio-attitude" is becoming an irresistible force in building, natural materials and colors are the prime choice for both homes and businesses. Mermet fabrics move to the forefront of this trend by opening the interior towards the light, shapes and colors of the outside environment and seek a match with natural materials and colors. With Mermet, simplicity is the key ...

tangy: brightly colored comfort

Computers started it, fashion and "deco" could not help but follow... "Shocking" pink, sky blue, translucent green, lemon yellow or apricot: in homes, offices or restaurants, tangy colors are all the rage. For furnishings and tableware, computers and toothbrushes, floors, ceilings and windows, brightly colored fabrics, pleasantly rounded plastics and translucent colors are the inspiration for decorators, architects and designers. Dressed in Mermet fabrics, the window translates color to turn tangy into transparent, light into delight and space into vibrant energy. With Mermet, comfort is made of color...

metallic: high tech comfort

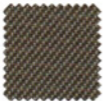

Brushed metal, varnished concrete, stainless steel and tiled surfaces... "D&co" loves time-resistant materials. Bearers of a culture of modernity, precision and crispness, they speak a new language in contemporary architecture and respond to the new demands of today's building industry: durability and progressive-ness, hygiene and care for the environment. Strict or playful, but always creative, these materials ally power and elegance, enhance space and volume and give full value to the intangible elements of architecture: view, light and reflections. Mermet fabrics blend into these modern compositions, tame the light and clothe windows in eternal youth. With Mermet, performance is a way of life...

soothing: restful comfort

In a world of stress and rigidity, where cosy comfort is once more the byword, "déco" is also a matter of love and softness. For those at home, at work or at leisure, interior designers seek to create a protective envelop, an area of reassurance and personal achievement to meet the need for security and the wish for openness, comfort and freedom. Softness of shape and texture, soothing colors... Individual well-being is a prerequisite for total fulfilment. In this center of life focused on relaxation and efficiency, Mermet fabrics protect without imprisoning, open up the view of the outside whilst filtering the light and play their part in the overall harmony with their range of soothing colors. With Mermet, comfort is always restful...
